NOW READ ON

Now Read On brings together literatures in English from around the world, combining an excellent choice of texts with sound methodological guidance. It contains approximately eighty texts and extracts from countries and continents including:

Africa

Southeast Asia

Australia

New Zealand

Great Britain

the Caribbean

India

the USA

Designed as a course for native and non-native English-speakers in how to read literature, this anthology begins with short starter texts and questions, and develops in complexity as the reader progresses through the book. Now Read On provides the user with

- hands-on experience of working with a plurality of texts and voices from around the world
- questions, exercises, pointers, and commentary, accompanying the passages of literature, and providing the student with the tools and confidence to evaluate any text critically
- an understanding of the major genres—poetry, short stories, drama, and novels.

John McRae is Special Professor of Language in Literature Studies at the University of Nottingham. His publications include The Language of Poetry (Routledge), The Routledge History of Literature in English (with Ronald Carter), and The Penguin Guide to English Literature (with Ronald Carter).

Malachi Edwin Vethamani is Lecturer and teacher trainer in the Department of Education at the Faculty of Educational Studies, Universiti Putra Malaysia. His Ph.D. thesis at the University of Nottingham was on language and point of view in Southeast Asian fiction. He has written widely on the teaching of literature and language, and on new literatures in English, and is himself a short-story writer.
