Two teachings of the Bhagwad Gita appealed most to Gandhiji. The first one was anasakti, non-attachment, to the fruits of one's actions, "Your business is with the action only; never with its fruits." Gandhi writes, "The most important step towards the haven of security is to rein in the senses, which, if not kept in control, carry off even the wisest to the abyss. Physical starving of the senses works but as a temporary purpose; it is only when the intellect realises its moorings in the Highest and prevents the mind from wandering that one can feel secure." Quick takes, analyses and macro-level views on all contemporary economic, financial and political events. From around the web.
